

The following chart reflects WHG's analysis of key provisions of the proposals for comprehensive health reform that have been released by Democratic presidential candidates thus far.<sup>1</sup> Specifically:

- Vice President Joe Biden proposes to establish a Medicare-like buy-in public option and to expand tax credit eligibility for premium assistance.<sup>2</sup>
- Sen. Kamala Harris (CA) proposes to establish a public Medicare plan with a 10-year transition period; and allow private insurance plans to contract through Medicare (like Medicare Advantage) and to compete with public plans.<sup>3</sup>
- Sen. Bernie Sanders (VT) proposes in the Medicare for All Act of 2019 (S. 1129) to establish a single-payer health care system with a four-year transition period. Cosponsors include Democratic presidential candidates Sens. Harris, Booker, and Warren.<sup>4</sup>
- Sen. Michael Bennet (CO) proposes in the Medicare-X Choice Act of 2019 (S. 981) to establish the Medicare Exchange health plan, made incrementally available in Exchanges in areas with low competition. Cosponsors include Democratic presidential candidates Sens. Harris, Booker, and Klobuchar.<sup>5</sup>
- Rep. Beto O'Rourke (TX) proposes in the Medicare for America Act (H.R. 2452), originally introduced by Rep. Rosa DeLauro (D-CT), to establish a public health insurance program with a two-year transition period; and to preserve employer-sponsored insurance offering qualified health coverage.<sup>6</sup>
- Mayor Pete Buttigieg (South Bend, IN) proposes "Medicare for All Who Want It," which establishes a Medicare-like buy-in public option and expands tax credit eligibility for premium assistance. Mayor Buttigieg also proposes drug pricing reforms, including policies similar to those included in the Lower Drug Costs Now Act of 2019 (H.R. 3).<sup>7</sup>

Though not reflected in the chart below, other presidential candidates have issued broad policy proposals regarding their respective positions on comprehensive health reform, including:

- Sen. Elizabeth Warren (MA) has endorsed Medicare for All, as proposed by Sen. Sanders.<sup>8</sup>

- Sen. Cory Booker (NJ) proposes to “fight for Medicare for All,” but he also supports more incremental changes by establishing a public option and lowering the eligibility age for Medicare to 50.<sup>9</sup>
- Sen. Amy Klobuchar (MN) proposes to establish a non-profit public option that allows individuals to purchase health insurance coverage through Medicare or Medicaid; and to expand premium subsidies and provide cost-sharing reductions.<sup>10</sup>
- Former Housing and Urban Development Secretary Julián Castro supports a Medicare for All system that allows individuals to purchase supplemental private insurance or opt out of Medicare if they prefer their private insurance and enrolls newborns individuals who lose employer-sponsored insurance into Medicare. He also supports authorizing Medicare to negotiate drug prices, reforming intellectual property laws to promote generic drugs, and allowing drug importation.<sup>11</sup>
- Entrepreneur Andrew Yang has expressed strong support for Medicare for All.<sup>12</sup>
